Repertoire

At least seven Lieder and at least five arias must be prepared for the competition.

The selection of repertoire lies within the responsibility of the participant. The pieces are to be performed by heart and in the original language. Participants must submit a binding repertoire list along with their registration. Subsequent changes are not possible.

Lieder:

a choice of seven Lieder from the following composers:

Joseph Haydn, Michael Haydn, Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart, Ludwig van Beethoven or Ignaz Joseph Pleyel.

Arias:

a choice of five arias from the following composers:

Joseph Haydn, Michael Haydn, Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart, Ludwig van Beethoven, Ignaz Joseph Pleyel or Christoph Willibald Gluck.

Evaluation

The evaluation of the performances will be conducted by the jury based on a scoring system of one to ten points in the categories "voice quality and voice technique" and "interpretation and presence". In the first round the jury additionally evaluates in the category "diction".

Students of jury members or singers whose agency is represented within the jury may not be evaluated by those jury members. The decisions of the jury and the organizer are binding, final and incontestable. Legal recourse may not be taken.

Sequence of performances of the participants

- The order of the performances of the participants in the first round will be established by means of a lottery one week ahead of the competition. Participants will be informed by e-mail.
- The order of performances in the second round will be decided by the jury after consultations and will be announced together with the results of the first round by e-mail.
- Together with the announcement of the participants of the finale the order of performances in the finale will be stated. Participants will be notified by e-mail.

Rehearsal rooms

All participants can use rehearsal rooms that are available at the venue of the competition. Detailed information on the rehearsal schedule and their allocation will be given at the registration on site.

Piano accompaniment

Participants can decide to be accompanied either by their own répétiteur or by a member of our team of pianists. A short rehearsal with the répétiteur is set for every day of the competition. The repetition with a pianist of our team is free of charge! Time and venue of rehearsals will be announced at the registration office on site.

Audio and video documentation

Audio and video recordings as well as photographs may be taken at all times of the competition. With their registration all participants agree not to raise any legal claims when this media is used for PR purposes during or after the competition, given the use does not serve any commercial purpose.

Safety and COVID-19

In the best interest of all parties concerned Haydnregion Niederösterreich makes great efforts to create a safe and secure environment for all participants, the committee and the organizing team involved in the event. Thus, also participants are asked to act responsibly and thoughtfully in all social interactions.

Application and preselection

The preselection for participation in the competition will be done by the head of jury based on the submitted documents. A notification of participation will be sent via e-mail by April 17th, 2023.

With the submission of their documents, participants agree that their personal data may be passed on to the competition organizers and committee and that their artistic CV and photo will be printed in the competition brochure. By submitting the signed and dated application form, participants confirm that they have read and accept the conditions of the competition.
